Assess and manage risk across your business ecosystem

Organizations are accelerating their reliance on third-party vendors, business partners, supply chains, and digital services at unprecedented growth. And as firms move to the cloud, access and proprietary information is being shared across a dynamic ecosystem of potentially hundreds of separate entities, each with vastly different security protocols.

But effectively assessing and managing constantly changing security risks can be difficult, time consuming and expensive for your internal IT and security team.

Let Edgile simplify the process of identifying, assessing, compiling, categorizing, and monitoring risks external to your organization.

Edgile's centralized, scalable VRM solution

The ServiceNow Vendor Risk Management application provides a centralized process for managing a vendor portfolio. This enterprise-grade solution can scale to thousands of vendors and offers automated workflows with alerts and notifications.

Our Vendor Risk Management Quick Start packages include workflows, configurations, and pre-built reports. Edgile can deploy the ServiceNow GRC Vendor Risk Management module, integrate it with complimentary platforms and provide ongoing managed services. We offer solution accelerators that quickly deliver critical answers to the TPRM team and help clients achieve rapid success in a cost-effective manner.
